Woss of an Old Time Writer. High among unconventional writers stands William Prynne, a Lordon journalist in the days when there were no journals, days when a bulky pamphlet took the place of a letter to one's favorite newspaper. Prynne published about 200 of such pamphlets and is said to have averaged a sheet of print a day throughout his life. And he worked in a quilt cap coming over his eyes to shield them from the light, and stuck at his table all day, being served with a roll and a pot of beer every three hours. And he reaped the reward of his literary efforts in the branding and pillory and ear cropping that every political writer risked in

HOG TYING A LONGHORN. Catching, Tripping and Roping a Steel

To rope, "bust" and "hog tie" a wild Texas longhorn single handed in two minutes is a sport which represents the daily work of the range. Men of quick eye and steady nerve each start their fifty feet behind the longhorn, which may jump the arena fence like a deer and again and again dodge when it hears the first swish of the rope. The rope often breaks on the tautening, or the saddle may slip, as in the case of Bill Mahaffey, who landed on his head with foot caught in the stirrup and but for the splendidly trained cow pony might have been dragged and killed. There goes Cuba Crutchfield! He. overtakes his sister. Swish, swish! His larist zips through the air-a beautiful throw over the horns. Then the cow pony braces, and the rope tightens like a harp string. Watching, anticipating every move of his horned adversary. the cowboy now circles the animal so that the rope is brought from the horns around the hind legs. A word, and the? knowing pony makes a sudden start Thud, and the steer is tripped or "bust-ed." The rope tautens, and the rider is already running afoot with a short cord in hand toward the steer; depending for his own safety on his trained cow STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA pony to hold that rope taut and the steer in position. With marvelous dexterity be "hog ties" with anumber of half hitches looped about the hind feet and one forefoot of the steer. The man stands erect, raises both arms in the suit to me to grant him made air, and Crutchfield has not only won of Administration of the estate and the steer roping championship, but has ridden down, roped, thrown and hog monish all and singular the kin- tied a steer in twenty-seven seconds. within six seconds of the best record ever made.-World's Work.
